Maxon To Host Virtual NAB 2020 on C4DLive.com

Friedrichsdorf, Germany – March 24, 2020 – In light of the cancellation of the 2020 NAB Show next month, Maxon will be hosting a virtual NAB presence on C4DLive.com featuring an incredible line-up of presenters. Monday, April 20 through Thursday, April 23, 2020, the artists originally slated to appear in Las Vegas will share production tips, techniques and inspiration featuring Maxon's Cinema 4D, Red Giant and Redshift product lines.

For over a decade, at major industry conferences such as NAB, SIGGRAPH, IBC and NAB NY, Maxon has successfully supplemented its physical booth presence with live streaming presentations. This has allowed show attendees and those unable to attend events in person, to benefit from cutting-edge demonstrations, technology updates and interaction with the guest artists in real-time. In the current unusual situation, Maxon is able to take advantage of more than a decade of experience bringing this show to the community around the globe.

Maxon Virtual NAB Show Experience

Welcome CEO, Dave McGavran, will kick-off the company's virtual NAB Show presence on April 20th, at 8:30am (PST), with the latest news about Maxon's recent merger with Red Giant, recent product releases and exciting new developments.

Live Presentations Guest artists and Maxon team members will appear daily to present real-world tips and valuable production techniques for film, broadcast, video, games, visualization, interactive media, virtual reality, and more.

Presenter Highlights Penelope Nederlander, recently named one of the 10 Women of Title Design, will breakdown her latest end credit animation for Birds of Prey, esteemed filmmaker Seth Worley will walk through some of the visual effects shots from his latest short film, Darker Colors, Doug Appleton will share the creative processes behind creating the technology for Spider-Man: Far From Home, Jonathan Winbush will demonstrate how easy it is to import C4D scenes into Unreal Engine for rendering or VR/AR output, and Veronica Falconieri Hays will share how she builds cellular landscapes and molecular structures in order to convey complex scientific stories. The amazing line-up of artists also includes acclaimed 3D industry influencers Mike "Beeple" Winkelmann, Stu Machwitz, EJ Hassenfratz, Chris Schmidt, Angie Feret, Kelcey Steele, Daniel "Hashi" Hashimoto, Dan Pierse, Andy Needham, and many more.

Additional presenters' info and a live streaming schedule will be available at C4DLive.com.
