Most successful BAU ever

Bremen, April 27, 2023 - Our team of experts from NEVARIS and 123erfasst achieved extraordinary success at this year's BAU in Munich from April 17 to 22, 2023. The booth - for the first time on a large area with a total of 10 brands of the Nemetschek Group - was a magnet for (potential) customers and partners from the industry.

The 6-day trade fair was an opportunity to present our latest solutions for the construction industry: for example, the BIM integration in NEVARIS Build in Germany and Success X in Austria or the new 123erfasst product model with a free entry-level variant - and much more!

The trade fair booth was elaborately and strikingly designed and was the perfect stage for our dedicated and highly motivated team: Visitors could convince themselves of the competence, professionalism and noticeable joy and were enthusiastic about the solutions. Numerous contracts were concluded directly at the booth, which underlines the topicality and relevance of the NEVARIS and 123erfasst solutions.

"We are very satisfied with the outcome of the trade fair," says Thorsten Wenzel, Director Sales NEVARIS. "Our products received a great response from the visitors. We gained many prospective customers and had great conversations. We are proud of what we have achieved and are sure that we will achieve even more this year."

Our participation at the show was an important milestone for 2023 and an ideal opportunity to get in direct contact with our contacts. Particularly in these challenging times for the construction industry, we are glad to be able to support our customers in partnership as they digitize and increase efficiency.

Ruth Schiffmann, Managing Director of NEVARIS Bausoftware GmbH and Bluebeam GmbH sums up: "We have taken a big step forward and will continue to work continuously to accompany construction companies on their way to digitalization with the help of innovative and at the same time intuitive software."

You could not visit us at this year's BAU? No problem. We are there for you, even if we are not at trade fairs at the moment. Just get in touch with us!
