The MoU establishes a collaborative framework between Nemetschek and NIT to implement cutting-edge digital solutions, including Building Information Modeling (BIM), digital twins, and open standards, across large-scale infrastructure projects throughout Saudi Arabia. The partnership seeks to enhance project efficiency, sustainability, and innovation in the AEC/O industry.

“This partnership marks a significant milestone in our commitment to supporting Saudi Arabia’s Vision 2030,” explains Muayad Simbawa, Managing Director of Nemetschek Saudi Arabia. “By combining Nemetschek’s global expertise in digital construction technologies with NIT’s deep understanding of the local market, we aim to deliver transformative solutions that will redefine the construction landscape in the Kingdom.”

Eng. Fouad Alsherebi, Chairman of Nesma Infrastructure & Technology, expressed enthusiasm about the collaboration: “Partnering with the Nemetschek Group aligns perfectly with our strategic vision to lead the digital transformation in Saudi Arabia’s infrastructure sector. Together, we will leverage advanced technologies to enhance project delivery, operational efficiency, and contribute to the Kingdom’s sustainable development goals.”

The MoU outlines joint initiatives in areas such as smart city development, digital infrastructure planning, and workforce upskilling in digital construction methodologies. Both organizations are committed to fostering innovation and setting new benchmarks for excellence in the AEC/O industry.
