Nemetschek Group wins four Construction Computing Awards

Users and industry experts honor the strengths of the Group's software solutions

Munich, November 15, 2021 – The Nemetschek Group, one of the world's leading software solution providers for the AEC/O and media industry, was once again very successful at the prestigious Construction Computing Awards, also known as “The Hammers.” The Nemetschek brands Graphisoft, Solibri, and Vectorworks received awards for their digital solutions, service offerings, and innovative strength.

Graphisoft – named “BIM Product of the Year” for Archicad for the eleventh year in a row and “Mobile Technology of the Year” for BIMx – was nominated in six categories. Solibri, also a finalist in four categories, won “Construction Software Product of the Year 2021” for Solibri Office. Vectorworks – with three nominations – won “Architectural Design Software of the Year” for Vectorworks Architect.

“We are very happy to receive four of the prestigious ‘Hammers,’” said Dr. Axel Kaufmann, Spokesman of the Executive Board and CFOO of the Nemetschek Group. “This shows how customer-oriented our brands are and how they develop innovative solutions to current challenges. My congratulations and thanks go to the teams at Graphisoft, Solibri, and Vectorworks for their strong customer focus and innovation.”

Graphisoft, Vectorworks, and Solibri are part of the Planning & Design Division of the Nemetschek Group. With its four divisions – Planning & Design, Build & Construct, Manage & Operate, and Media & Entertainment – the Nemetschek Group covers the entire building life cycle.

The Construction Computing Awards, also known as “The Hammers,” have been presented for 16 years. The awards showcase and reward technologies, tools, and solutions used in the effective design, construction, maintenance, and modification of office buildings, residential and social housing, and civil engineering projects of all sizes. The 2021 Hammers were awarded in London on November 11, 2021.
