Nemetschek Group Wins Game Changer Award 2025

Berlin/Munich, 27 June 2025 – The Nemetschek Group, a global leader in AEC/O (Architecture, Engineering, Construction and Operations) and media & entertainment software solutions, has received the prestigious Game Changer Award 2025 in the category “Operations of the Future”. The award ceremony which celebrated four award winners in total took place on Thursday evening in Berlin and recognized the company’s outstanding innovation, commitment to sustainability, and transformative impact on the built environment.

This marks the tenth year that Bain & Company and manager magazin have jointly presented one of Germany's most prestigious business awards. The four Germany companies were honored to have made disruptive change a core element of their business strategy. The winners were selected based on a comprehensive analysis and the verdict of a distinguished jury. All recipients share a common thread: they bridge digital and physical worlds while placing sustainability at the heart of their operations.

The award underscores the Nemetschek Group's leadership in the digital transformation of the architecture, engineering, construction and operations (AEC/O) industry, as well as its ongoing contribution to smarter, more efficient planning, construction, and operational processes.

Yves Padrines, CEO of the Nemetschek Group, accepted the award on behalf of the company and commented: "This award is a tremendous recognition of the passion and vision of our global team – and of the trust our customers place in us every day. At Nemetschek, we believe in the power of digital collaboration and innovation to create a better built world. This honor motivates us to continue pushing boundaries – for the benefit of our industry and our planet."

Walter Sinn, Head of Bain Germany and jury member, emphasized: "With its strategic direction, Nemetschek has positioned itself strongly for growth and is tapping into a key lever of efficiency: software. Its focus on holistic solutions is what truly sets the company apart."

In addition to the Nemetschek Group, the three other award winners were Trade Republic (Europe's largest savings platform) for "Customer Experience", high-tech company TRUMPF for "Product & Service Innovation", and Planet A Foods, a Munich-based food-tech startup founded in 2021, which received the special "Rising Star" award.
