Solibri BIM EXCELLENCE April 28, 2023 Holiday Inn Hamburg HafenCity

March 14, 2023 - SOLIBRI, developer of the leading software for BIM and rule-based quality control and assurance of digital building models, invites you to the free Solibri Conference: BIM Excellence.

The full-day event will take place on April 28, 2023, at the Holiday Inn in Hamburg's HafenCity district.

Speakers will lecture on the BIM king discipline and share their valuable experience in terms of model-based quality review.

Based on the current state of BIM working methodology, this unique event will highlight the benefits of professional quality management in the context of time, cost and resources. Participation in the Solibri conference is aimed at all project participants and is free of charge after prior registration.

Interdisciplinary quality management in focus

As different as their goals and task focuses are within the planning, construction and utilization process: All speakers are specialists in their field and provide valuable insights into individual ways of thinking and working. In addition, they have been very familiar with BIM working methodology for many years and are forward-looking advocates of interdisciplinary quality management in line with the Open BIM philosophy.

The conference will feature, among others, accomplished experts from Tecklenburg GmbH, INTERBODEN Innovative Lebenswelten GmbH & Co. KG, Xella Deutschland GmbH, Vollack Gruppe GmbH & Co.KG, LH Architekten, Xella International GmbH, Hilti and Solibri will speak. The complete program and background information on all speakers and the venue can be found HERE.

Please feel free to forward this invitation to colleagues and interested parties, we look forward to your participation!
