Vectorworks, Inc. Offers New Industry-Specific Professional Certification Courses

Columbia, MD (October 17, 2022) – Global design and BIM software provider Vectorworks, Inc. invites designers to take the next step in their careers with the new professional certification course program for Vectorworks Architect, Landmark and Spotlight. The comprehensive courses are available to all users across the globe and cover the essential tools, commands and concepts needed to increase proficiency in Vectorworks' industry-focused products. With live online classes, attendees can actively participate in the course sessions, ask industry experts questions and join real-time discussions, all from the convenience of their own office.

“Earning a Vectorworks professional certification is a key differentiator for designers,” said Vectorworks Customer Success Director Juan Almansa. “Not only does the course allow you to tap into the full potential of your chosen Vectorworks product and improve workflows, but it also provides a critical resume enhancement. The certification distinction allows you to stand out from the competition and showcase your competency in industry-leading software to your clients, employers and colleagues.”

Designers can mark their calendars and prepare for three upcoming courses, with more opportunities to come in 2023.
